

Pick two other rods of different colours, and work out what fraction the shorter rod is of the longer one. Can you find a general rule?

