

These images show squares split in half:

How might you check that each was correct?

Can you think of more ways to split a square into two halves?